Meet our City of Richlawn neighbors, Andy and Mandy Carpenter. This young, sweet couple bought their Richlawn home in 2013. Mandy actually drove for 2 ½ hours, while sick, to see the home before her husband made an offer! She loved the house and they are happy with their purchase in the convenient area of St. Matthews. They have made some home improvements since moving in including painting their kitchen cabinets, building a new deck and adding a backyard fence. They love their two dogs, Odie and Sydney.

Andy works as an engineer for Charah and Mandy is a nurse anesthetist with Norton Hospitals. They remain busy by attending Alabama football games and working on their recent purchase of a 42 acre farm in Henry County. They have plans to plant a huge garden on the farm! Mandy just received a canoe for her birthday, which they hope to use in the pond on their property. Next time you're out in the neighborhood, be sure to say "hello" (or "Roll Tide!") to Andy and Mandy!

Bird Houses in Lang Field by Ian Cassidy

The Commission has been pondering the arrival of three bird houses on Ledyard Field and I was assigned at the May meeting to conduct an investigation and report back to our citizens via this article.

The bird houses are designed to attract bluebirds who enjoy living in fields containing trees which are spaced far apart. Bird lovers state the house on the post design provides safety from predators like raccoons and snakes and the open area placement gives a good perch to observe possible threats. The male blue bird finds a nesting sight to attract the female and they typically will have two broods per the spring/summer season. They are omnivores and gardeners love them for their ability to control the insect population.

One resident on Ledyard reported the middle house is active and she enjoys watching their comings and goings. I noticed signs of occupancy at the western placed house. Several websites I reviewed stated that our citizens on Ledyard may benefit from a very green insect control program.

I asked a few citizens of "North" Richlawn who we can thank for the bird houses. No one wanted to go on record with the name of the contractor who built and placed the three new "homes" on Ledyard Field.

I suggest that we enjoy "the work" of the mysterious contractor and maybe he or she will step forward to be recognized.
